SOSX Mentor

You, at the centre of your own network

A map of your whole life, yours to keep

WHAT SYSTEMS THINKING IS

Systems thinking treats a whole life as a network: you at the centre, joined to your skills, the people around you and the openings ahead, with loops that build confidence and gaps that hold you back.

HOW SOSX HELPS

Research

Your session notes become proposed updates, each citing its source.

Build

You at the centre of a typed network: skills, examples, people, openings.

Analyse

Pathways compared side by side, never scored; gaps drawn as gaps.

Report

A plan with check-points, yours to keep and take with you.

THE PROBLEMS IT SOLVES

> “A good session changes how I see things. Two sessions later, it has gone.”

> “I know what I can do, but not how to show it.”

> “I can see where I want to go, but not the steps in between.”

> “Every time I move on, I start again from a blank page.”

KEPT CURRENT

After each session, your notes become proposed updates, each citing the notes it came from. Nothing reaches your map without your yes.

AN ILLUSTRATIVE EXAMPLE

Alex wants to move from project coordination into product work. The map shows the skills Alex has already shown, one gap drawn as a gap, and a first step that closes it this month.
